

HISTORY OF PRESENT ILLNESS:, The patient has a known case of marginal B-cell lymphoma for which he underwent splenectomy two years ago. The patient, last year, developed a diffuse large B-cell lymphoma which was treated with CHOP/reduction. The patient again went into complete remission. The patient has been doing well until recently, few days ago, late last week, when he developed swelling of the left testicle. The patient states he has been having fever and chills for the last few days. The patient felt weak and felt unwell. The patient with these complaints came to the emergency room. The patient has been having fever and chills and the patient states that the pain in the left testicle is rather severe. No history of trauma to the testicle.,

PAST MEDICAL HISTORY:,1. Status post splenectomy.,2. History of marginal B-cell lymphoma.,3. History of diffuse large cell lymphoma.,

ALLERGIES: , None.,PERSONAL HISTORY: , Used to smoke and drink alcohol but at present does not.,FAMILY HISTORY:, Noncontributory.,REVIEW OF SYSTEMS:,HEENT: Has slight headache.,CARDIOVASCULAR: No history of hypertension, MI, etc.,

RESPIRATORY: No history of cough, asthma, TB, shortness of breath.,GI: Unremarkable.,GU: As above, has developed painful swelling of the left testicle over the last few days.,ENDOCRINE: Known case of type II diabetes mellitus.,PHYSICAL EXAMINATION:,HEENT: No conjunctival pallor or icterus.,NECK: No adenopathy. No carotid bruits.,LUNGS: Clear.,HEART: No gallop or murmur.,ABDOMEN: